Words and Music by
FREDDIE MERCURY

Slowly

Is this the real life? Is this just fan-ta-sy? Caught in a land-slide, no es-cape from re-al-i-ty. O-pen your eyes, Look up to the skies and see, I'm just a poor boy, I need no sym-path-y, Be-cause I'm eas-y come, eas-y go, lit-tle high, lit-tle low, An-y way the wind blows

African music was still prominent, as drumming and dancing were some of the few freedoms allowed slaves before emancipation. Ragtime was popular, and its up-tempo and syncopated rhythms had a profound influence on later styles. Military marching bands had begun to influence New Orleans music, in terms of musical forms and also the types of instruments that were available. Communities formed brass bands that played and marched in parades to accompany funerals and holidays. Musicians based in the red light district of New Orleans, known as Storyville, combined these styles with blues and improvisation, developing the first forms of jazz in bars and brothels. Early jazz is often referred to as Hot Jazz and "Dixieland Music". It incorporated the rigid and rich Ragtime nature, and the use of trumpets, trombones, drums, saxophones, clarinets, banjos and a bass or a tuba. In addition, in contrast to the classical music and the Ragtime, there was an emphasis on improvisation instead of written arrangements. Some sections of pieces involved collective improvisation, and others presented soloists, who struggled for virtuosity. Directly influenced by Ragtime, Piano Stride style became popular in New York during World War I. Stride pieces are characterized by a low line with a half-note pulse in the left hand while the melody and the chords are touched in the right hand. The "prosecution" tense comes from the action of the left hand, since it hits a bass note and then moves rosely through the keyboard to hit the tones of chords in any other rhythm. Stride pianists also incorporated improvisation and blues improvisation and were interested in technical skill. The hot jazz groups and the Stride pianists often toured the PA in the vaudeville acts and developed followers throughout the south, and in cities such as Chicago, Detroit, New York and Kansas City. The bands in those regions were formed as jazz became more and more popular and soon filled the waves and dance rooms that lead to the era of the swing. Louis Armstrong, rose, Bix Beiderbecke, strongly influenced by Armstrong, Beiderbecke was a cornet player whose clean improvised melodias had an influence that lasted in the era of the swing and more all. Fats Waller, an exuberant intress and composer who was a of the Stride piano. He composed "Jitterbug Waltz", "Rosa de Honeysuckle," and "In" is evil. The style of reproduction of the rear gate, which is when the trombone player improvises a simple rhythmic line under the melody in the first jazz sets. Louis Armstrong, King Oliver and Sidney Bechet played in Ory's band in New Orleans. Sidney Bechet: the first saxophoneist to show a great technical and improvisational skill, Bechet was an early jazz musician whose influence spread in later periods of jazz.
